Gardening Report

Our Gardener's hard work combined with lovely weather this summer and fall have kept our Village gardens looking beautiful again this year. The newly planted tulips provided a very colourful start to the season, and more flowers have been added to the beds near Norton and Macdonell. Based on resident's suggestion, daffodils that were blocking the view of the Liz Hawley stone have been moved and should come up beside the stone instead of in front of it next spring.

We were thankful to add a new volunteer for gardening, Tim Adams, who diligently kept the weed population down in all our beds! We have now dubbed him the 'official assistant to the Secret Gardener'!

Thanks also goes to Craig's other wonderful helpers, Heather Kozar and Jim Wallace.

Thanks for another 'blooming' season!
